

Science – Animals Including Humans

- Humans have many different body parts. Look at the diagram and label the body parts. You could either print this page or draw and label your own diagram.

Challenge: Label yourself! You could either lay on a large piece of paper and get somebody to draw around you using a felt tip pen, or you could go outside and use chalk. When you have your life size template of your body, label your own body parts. How many can you remember?
